We innocently perpetrated a doubleentente yesterday morning, in speaking of the Frank Forrest, and, as is usual in such cases, we will never hear the last of it. Marine technicalities are not always understood by the land-lubber tribe, and it would take up too much space to explain that what we said yesterday morning was perfectly legitimate steamboat talk, therefore we have no apology to offer.

lined with passengers, and as she passed the bluffs thousands of handkerchiefs and bats were waved on shore and on the boat, while the band played a spirited quickstep. Friday evening is getting to be almost as attractive on the bluffs as were the evening entertainments in

The health of the city is in jeopardy as long as that mud remains. An hour's work a day for a week by one of the fire steamers under management of Chief M'Fadden, will disperse the mud as fast as it is uncovered, and the expense to the city will be nothing compared to the danger to her mercantile interests should an epidemic break out.
